Fund drive tops goal; Lycoming gets Kresge grant

Lycoming College has received , $150,000 check from the Kresge Foundation in full payment for its "challenge" grant toward the Physical Liucation and Recreation Center.

shortly after reaching the Partners in Progress Fund's $3.1 million goal by May 15, the deadline set by the Troy, Much., foundation.

The grant, which is included in the $3,101,170 raised to date, actually jushed the fund drive "over the top" of its goal, and established the physical education center as a debt-free building.

After reaching the goal, Lycering President Dr. Prederick E. Blumer said: "May 15 will be a day to remember. Lycering College met the Kresge challenge by coupleting the most successful fund drive in our history. Trustees, alumni, and friends united, and today we have a new, debt-free physical education re-creation center...

Report is not published in July or Auroust, the next issue will reach you in September. Until that time, if you have any suspections to improve the Report, please contact us.

lave a profision er!

This response shows clearly how much people love this college," he added. "I want to thank all of them... We are grateful for their response to the challenge and for their continuing loyalty to Lycoming College."

Although the fund drave has ended officially, Lycomung will continue to accept gifts and pledges for the recreation center until August 31. Gifts and pledges of $180 and above wall be recognized on a share-plan donors plaque to be located in the entrance lobby of the new building.

A breakdown of total diving shows that foundations and corporations provided the major share of gifts and plodges to the campaign. Foundations provided $1,024,173; corporate support totaled $922,083. Alumni, parents, and friends gave $993,908, including $378,343 from trustees. Bequests brought in the remaining $161,006.

Many donors also are paying plodges ahead of schedule. So far, $2,314,967 has been paid, and pledge bilances outstanding total $786,203.

If you can, make a layment on your please balance today, it will be appreciated. New pleases, infirs, and accelerated payments of pleases should be sent to:

Projections unlicate that 75-80 students per year will enter the promar with approximately 300 in training by 1985 and every year thereafter. If nursing students are admitted in the fall of 1982, they would beam taking nursing ownsess by 1984, probably earlier.

Their initial courses would be those needed to fulfill Lyconing's distribution and other requirements for a four-way degree.

Most nursing students are experted to one from Pennsylvania, particularly Central Pennsylvania, where a critical shortage of nurses exists. But the college also will recruit potential nursing students from the same areas it recruits other students, including New York and New Jursey.

Recruiting faculty to teach in the program actually may be more difficult than recruiting students, according to the study done to determan the teasibility of Lyconing flering a Jost-effective program.

The manusur requirement for a family member is a matter's degree in marsing, according to the study. And, since there is a well-discribed shirtage of marsing faculty in Pennsylvania and the nation, says the feasibility study, recruitment of sufficient and adequately credentialed faculty is expected to be a continual problem in the near future.

Lycrum is expected to recruit faculty from the six Fennsylvania schols offering master's programs in nursing: The Pennsylvania State University, the Universities of Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh, Duquesme and Villanova Universities, and Widener College. It is estimated that 12-15 faculty members will be needed eventually to teach students taking nursing courses. At least five faculty (rembers will be needed inmediately to plan the program, including 'noulty with backgrounds in adult, child, maternal, corrunity, and psychiatric wental health care. Later, a nutritionist and pharmacolousts probably will be added to the faculty. Factors that it not appear to pose any problems for the start of the nurs-

Two alumni nominated for judgeships

Barring any successful writein campaigns, Lycoming County's two newest Court of Common Pleas judges will be a Lycoming graduate and a former Lycoming student.

Judge Clinton W. Smith '55, of Williamsport, who was appointed to his post early this year and confirmed recently, and Lycoming County Solicitor Robert J. Wollet '54, of Williamsport, were nominated by both the Republican and Democratic parties in May's primary election to run for 10-year terms this fall. Both Republicans crossfiled, with Smith running first and Wollet running second on each ballot.

Smith, 47, currently is serv-ing a term that will expire at the end of 1981. He was nominated for the judgeship by Pennsylvania Gov. Dick Thornburgh in January. The state Senate confirmed his appointment in April. He was sworn in as Lycoming County's third judge in late Wollet, 54, is in his second term as county solicitor; he held that post from 1972 to 1975, and was renamed solucitor in January, 1980.

Until Smuth assumed his judgeship, he was a member of the law firm of Stuart, Murphy, Smith, Mussina, Harris and Rieders, of Williamsport. He is married to the former Mary C. Johnson '59; they have a son.

Wollet is a partner in the law firm of Wollet and Anderson, of Williamsport. He is married to the former Marguerite R. DiSalvo: they have four children, including Christine '82.

Smith earned his law degree from Dickinson School of Law in 1958. A year later, the Duboistown native was admitted to practice law in Lycoming County, and became associated with the law firm of former Judge D. M. Larrabee and Don L. Larrabee '23, Five years later, Smith was named an assistant district attorney to Henry G. Hager, of Williamsport, now Pennsylvania Senate majority leader. He held that post until Jan-uary, 1968, during which time he helped to form the law firm of Stuart, Murphy, Hager, and Smith. Wollet earned his law degree from the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1956, after graduating from Bucknell University in 1953. He attended Lycoming from 1951-52, transferring to the Lewisburg school. In 1957, he was admitted to practice law in Lycoming County, and became associated with the law office of Michael J. Maggio. He maintained that association until Maggio's death in 1972. He formed his current partnership with Dudley N. Anderson in January, 1980.

Medical missionaries get Wertz Award

A retired couple who served as medical missionaries to Nepal and Haiti were honored June 9 by Lycoming at the Annual Conference of the Central Pennsylvania Conference, The United Methodist Church, held at Bloomsburg State College.

Drs. Edgar and Elizabeth Bucke Miller, of Liverpool (PA), received the second "Bishop D. Frederick Wertz Award" for outstanding service to the church. Named in honor of the former Lycoming president who is now resident Bishop of the Washington Area of The United Methodist Church, the award is presented to clergymen or lay persons who have given exceptional service to God through the church.

The Millers, who received the award from Dr. Frederick E. Blumer, Lycoming president, spent 10 years in Nepal in the late 1950's and early 1960's as part of a pioneer medical missionary venture. They went to Nepal when he was 57 and she was 54, giving up a successful medical practice of 30 years in Wilmington, Del. For their work, they were decorated by the King of Nepal, and invited by former President Johnson to honor the King and Queen of Nepal at a White House dinner.

Although the Millers retired in 1965, they have come out of retirement twice since then to travel to Haiti as medical missionaries.

The couple met at Dickinson College when he was a senior and she was a freshman from Williamsport, where her father, the Rev. J. E. A. Bucke, was pastor of Newberry Methodist Church.

Campus continues as summer conference favorite

An estimated 3,400 conference attendees will join Lycoming's summer-term students on campus this summer and keep it a very busy place.

Approximately 800 Jaycees from throughout Pennsylvania opened the summer conference season May 29-31 with a training workshop sponsored by the Williamsport Jaycees. They were followed to the campus on June 12-14 by the contestants for the title of

The process, completed flawlessly, took about two hours.

Rogers describes his sculpture as three pieces that fuse into one. He has remained at Lycoming for the early part of this summer, putting the finishing touches on "Triad."

Grants from the Women of Lycoming, the senior class, and student government helped finance the project.

LYCOMING COLLEGE REPORT is published 10 times a year by Lycoming College. Second Class pristage paid at Williamsport Pennsylvania 17701

Editor - William H. Rupp Associate Editor — Dale V. Bower Assistant Editor — Welles B. Lobb Miss Pennsylvania Teenager, who competed for the crown in Lycoming's Physical Education and Recreation Center.

Events still scheduled for the campus this summer include a leadership session for members of the Pennsylvania Parent-Teachers Association, a judicatory meeting of the Northumberland Presbytery, two five-day International Cheerleading Foundation camps, a youth convocation of the Northeast Jurisdictional School of Evangelism, and a visit by the White Oak Baptist

Other events include three Elderhostel sessions, which bring senior citizens to campus to take special courses; the annual visit and show of the Susquehannock Region of the Antique Automobile Club of America; weekend and weekday school of missions of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of The United Methodist Church, a World Cheerleader Council camp, and a family life conference of the Epis-copal Diocese of Central Pennsylvania.

Comedies summer fare

The Arena Summer Theatre curtain will rise on a schedule of three contenporary comedies this year, according to Dr. Robert F. Falk, professor of theatre and theatre director. The season will be the 17th for summer theatre at Lycoming.

Alan Ayckbourn's British comedy, "Bedroom Farce," opened the season June 18-21 and 25-28.

The Broadway hit, "Da," written by Hugh Leonard, will be the second offering. It will run July 2-5 and

The season's final play, Ernest Thompson's "On Golden Pond, performed July 16-19 and 23-26.

The latter two plays are being released this summer for the first time for staging by amateur theatrical groups outside of New York City, Falk said. He describes both plays as "sentimental, family entertairment."

As they have for years, the casts of the plays will again be made up of local and regional professionals, amateurs, and students.

Faculty offices, student housing, and classrooms are available at the college. The only major need is for a nursing laboratory with at least six client units, storage space for supplies and equipment, and a separate room for demonstration purposes. The college already is investigating several possible existing sites for the laboratory. Any site chosen will have to be renovated.

There appears to be at least 20 different nursing homes, community health agencies and organizations, and hospitals available, willing, and within easy commuting distance to provide learning experiences for nursing students. Among them are the four hospitals in Lycoming County and the Pennsylvania Department of Health Center in Williamsport.

The initial start-up cost of the nursing program is estimated at $355,976, according to the feasibility study, with about $120,000 designated as one-time expenses for laboratory renovations, supplies, and other equipment. The rest of the expense covers first-year salaries and fringe benefits for a director and five faculty members and other indirect costs.

RICHARD and ALISON (SEMINERIO '72) RUPERT, along with Fritz Mailleue, make up the three person, Ernie Cash Band. They have been renovating a barn located off Green Valley Road, Hughesville, into a recording studio. This process will be realized with the installation of a protessional quality 16-track recorder that is compatible with those used in major recording studios across the country. were formerly with a group called Red Delicious. They have already been recording in their new studios, but when the new 16-track machine is installed, they hope to attract major recording artists to use the facilities. They report that the recording process is definitely a pressure situation both in time, because of high rates and the atmosphere of the big city. In Hughesville, it will be a very relaxing situation and so far they report their prices are "rock bottom. They hope to be able to record large as well as small groups and also do multimedia spots. Their 8-track equipment will be installed in a van so the studio can be taken on the road to record live concerts in auditoriums and clubs. Their new venture is called Green Valley Recording and is located at R. D. #2, Box 100, Hughesville, PA 17737.
